Saving a Life

As the speaker spoke, I ran into the dark, cold house. I was greeted with lots of rubbish which was burnt to the ground. Walking around the perimeter of the living room, searching for people and creatures. It was dark as night. My sparkling torch led the way.

As I entered the bedroom trying to find survivors, I immediately stared at the ground and came across a lifeless grey kitten, paralysed with fear. I gently picked up the small cat. I raced out of the hot, ashy house with the critter still in my hands. I yelled "I've found a kitten in the house!" I placed a mask over its face so it could breathe. I poured my cold water on the kitten's back. Suddenly the kitten re-activated its life. I was super proud of myself as everyone cheered.

Car parking infringements
